Creative Technology Tools for Schools

App Maker

Unleash the app making explorers in your class.

A mobile app making tool for schools to use across the whole curriculum to safely build and publish apps as part of learning. Extensive teacher admin tools support monitoring of pupil progress, assessment through feedback and full control over app publishing.

The unique Blippit App Maker enables students to create and publish their own mobile apps under management and control of school. Students can make apps on any topic and stick to simple 'drag and drop' building or use code such as HTML5 and Javascript.

Blocks

The versatility of block based programming.

Blippit Blocks is a block-based visual programming tool for primary and secondary students.

Built on Google's Blockly, Blippit Blocks promotes a collaborative, problem solving and creative approach to understanding learning with technology. As standard, Blocks includes project creation, onscreen playback, sharing, teacher-made project templates and evidence recording features. Blocks exports seamlessly into PureCode Python for those learners ready to move on to the next level of their coding journey.

PureCode Python

Helping your students experience text based coding in Python.

PureCode Python is a coding tool for schools with onscreen playback for creation and de-bug, project sharing, teacher project template creation and other tools to support learning.

A natural progression into text based coding following on from using Blippit Blocks, use the ready-to-go templates all with full commentary and tasks to explore. Or create your own project templates in PureCode Python for your own student groups who can open and work on them from anywhere anytime.
